TEMPO TWO — SPRING 1991 — PEARCEDALE

With a new season upon us, we are looking forward to one of the best flowering seasons we have had from two points. We have so many new Iris to flower, both in new imports and exciting seedlings flowering for the first time and because the season has been kind for Iris growing. Not too wet, yet warm enough to give long autumn growth and just a few frosts to stimulate good spring bloom. If you would like to see the largest display of Iris in Australia and one of the biggest collections anywhere in the world, come and visit Tempo Two in the spring. The dwarfs and medians begin flowering in late September through October. The peak bloom for the Tall Bearded is at the end of October and early November. Don't forget to put on some old shoes as the Iris are field grown and if it is a bit wet, good shoes can be ruined. The gardens are open from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m. each day during bloom.

We have had some success again with some of our Iris winning awards overseas apart from Australian awards. The most notable was the variety Knighted, raised by our son Tim, winning third prize in the Primo Firenze competition in Italy. Two varieties, In Town and Witch's Wand won H.M.'s in the American awards system. At home, the most notable was the siberian variety Coolabah won the inaugural Ira Wood award for the best Australian raised siberian Iris.

We hope you enjoy this catalogue, but if you can find no use for it, pass it on to a gardening friend. Have a happy spring in your garden.

Happy gardening
Barry and Lesley

There is nothing wrong with them, we just have to let them go because there are so many new ones coming out each year. If any are sold out when you order from this list, we will substitute to the nearest colour of a dearer variety at no extra cost to you. ## DWARF BEARDED IRIS

Dwarf Iris have a tremendous colour range and are very floriferous, making them good rockery or border plants. They are very easy to grow and multiply very quickly, giving you a good clump in the first year. They need full sun and plenty of good soil for a loose root run. It is advisable if the soil is heavy to build up the beds and add sharp sand to improve drainage. Don't give them any nitrogenous manure as this will cause leaf spot and, in turn, bring on rhizome rot. Use superphosphate and potash. Unlike the taller Iris they will not tolerate shade. Lift them every three years or sooner if they are extremely fast increasers. Do not allow them to dry out over summer. A good soaking once a week will suffice. They will flower in September and continue until the Tall Bearded flower in October. They are mostly suitable for cooler winter areas of Australia and are not particularly suitable for warmer coastal areas of N.S.W. and Queensland.

They should have winter frosts on them and a period of winter cold to make them bloom. Try some in pots!

SPURIA IRIS

These lovely Iris require simple conditions. Full sun, good drainage and to be left undisturbed for 5 or 6 years. They will grow in the same area as Bearded Iris, that is hot summers and few frosts in winter. They have a short dormant period over late summer or about 6 weeks after flowering, then they start to grow in Autumn and are rich lush green over winter. Usually on moving they don't flower the first season but some will bloom first year. Plant rhizomes about 2" below surface and once established don't water in dormant period. A general fertilizer can be used as well as organic fertilizer as long as it is not too fresh. Flowering time is just after Tall Bearded finish.

LOUISIANA IRIS

These iris will grow in similar conditions as do Bearded Iris but have the added adaptability of growing well in semi tropical and tropical areas of Australia. Areas with high summer rainfall. They will take wet feet, even to growing in water. They prefer full sun but in hotter areas light shade could help their growth. They are evergreen, will take rich manure, can be moved at any time, will not tolerate lime, and like lots of water in summer. In other words very easy to grow. SPECIE IRIS FOR WATER GARDEN

ROY DAVIDSON (Hager 87 USA) 34". Will grow in water. You may have read about the specie hybrid, Holden Clough. This is a mystery Iris as far as its parentage goes. Seed from it is difficult to germinate, so it was a surprise when this flowered. It is a grandchild from Iris pseudacorus and is similar colour except that the flowers are 3 1/2" across and they last for 3 DAYS unlike pseudacorus's one day. Stems have 2 or 3 branches. Flowers are bright golden yellow. Foliage is evergreen. Good increaser. For water, bogs or normal gardens. $12.50

CULTURAL DIRECTIONS FOR BEARDED IRIS

Bearded iris grow in most areas of Australia except coastal areas north of Newcastle and coastal areas north of and including Perth.

They need Winter frost, at least 1 or 2 per winter and low summer rainfall. Hot and dry in summer. These conditions initiate spring bloom. The lack of winter cold can give lots of leaves and little bloom. Excessive summer rain or water can cause rhizome rot.

Give them a sunny well drained position, Sun being at least half the day, preferably afternoon sun. They like similar conditions and cultivation as roses.

Fertilizers — On planting, a slow release fertilizer. We use and recommend 9 month Osmocote. In August a side dressing of a balanced fertilizer, such as Daphne, Rhodo tonic or something with a balanced N. P. K. ratio. Avoid fertilizers high in nitrogen such as Blood & Bone, Animal manure and heavy mulches. These all cause excessive growth and can cause rhizome rot. If compost is used, or old animal manure, dig it in well before planting. Don't put it around rhizomes.

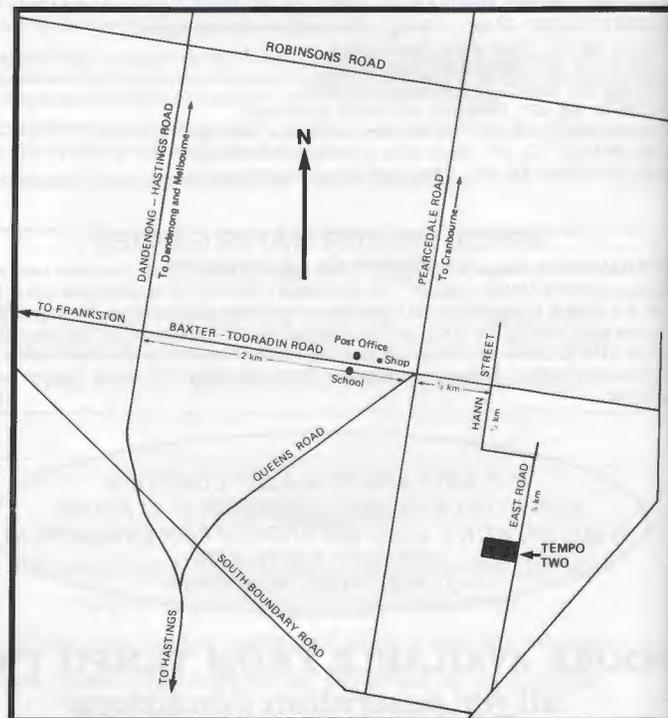

Replant about every 3 years in December through March. Don't cover the rhizome with more than 1/2" of soil.

Reasons for non bloom can be many and a combination of some.

They could be . . .

1. Too crowded. Lift and divide.
2. Too shaded. Move.
3. Fertilized with nitrogenous fertilizer.
4. Planted too deep. Lift and replant.
5. Overwatering in summer. Once a week is ample.
6. Lack of frosty mornings.
