President's Message Riley Probst

I am so excited with my new role as Reblooming Iris Society President. I very much appreciate the confidence placed in me by you, the members of the Reblooming Iris Society. Hopefully, during the next three years we will see the Reblooming Iris Society grow, improve and prosper. I want to thank the outgoing officers and directors for their work and welcome the new officers and directors.

For the last several years I have crisscrossed the country giving lectures, judges trainings and programs on the marvelous reblooming iris. I have certainly enjoyed meeting many wonderful irisarians and seeing many old friends again. I enjoy giving the programs and I hope the information I have shared and my enthusiasm for rebloomers has inspired those that I spoke with to try some rebloomers or to grow more rebloomers.

In recent years the interest in reblooming irises has increased ten fold with both the public and with irisarians alike. Recently, at a club iris show and sale, a potential customer approached and asked if we had reblooming irises. Due to a little advertising about reblooming irises, we sold out of them early. Needless to say, the customer was very disappointed and had no rebloomers to take home. My point is, we must spread the word about reblooming irises and then be able to supply them. If we supply them, customers will come.

Next year our annual meeting will be in Portland, OR at the 2015 AIS Convention. This will be a great opportunity for the Reblooming Iris Society to come in contact with many irisarians, maybe for the first time for some. Attendance at this convention is anticipated to be the highest of any convention in almost ten years. I hope that many of you, as you read this, are making plans to attend this event.

I made a trip to Oregon this last spring and while there, I visited six of the gardens that will be on the 2015 convention tour. The guest irises are planted and I got to observe many of them in bloom. The gardens are beautiful and the guest irises still have more time to grow. I hope to see you next spring in Portland.

Editor's Note By Carole Buchheim

I hope that all of you had a fantastic rebloom season. Judging by the entries in the Director's Reports it looks like it has been an exceptional year. Especially note the amazing number of tall bearded REs in Mary Lou's zone 5 Midwestern report.

I want to thank each of you and your AIS clubs that donated funds to the Reblooming Iris Society in the memory of George and Margaret Sutton. Their work has done much to champion the cause for remontant irises (see page 6).

Following the Board and General Meeting Minutes is the first Financial Statement the RIS has published in several years. You may note in the 2013 statement that the RIS is operating on a VERY slim budget. We welcome your donations in support of our society and full color magazine. Make your check payable to RIS or Reblooming Iris Society and send it to: Elladan McLeester, 1202 Pontiac Trail, Madison, WI 53711. Your generosity will be appreciated.

The 2014 RIS Symposium Results are on pages 23 to 25. Thank you to all of you who took the time to fill out the ballot and send it in. Participation is slowly increasing but we need to hear from more of you. Your write-in votes and comments are welcome. Below are some of the Symposium comments that members have posted. We look forward to hearing from you.

2014 Symposium Comments

Julie Allen - Cookeville, TN

'Mariposa Autumn' is my favorite and most reliable rebloomer. It is healthy and vigorous. Another reliable rebloomer for me is 'October Splendor'.

Joe Balch - Livermore, CA

Planted 'Violet Music' in August 2014 (dug, separated and replant) and by October 3, 2014, it had put up a bloom stalk. 'Anxious' has been one of the best and dependable rebloomers in our garden.

J. Griffin Crump - Alexandria, VA

'Stealth Fighter' is a reliable rebloomer in Northern VA and in Las Cruces, NM.

Riley Probst - Modesto, CA

This fall the best rebloomers are, 'Platinum' Monty (M. Byers '94), 'Corn Dance', (D. Spoon '08), 'Duo Dandy', (B. Hager '99) and

'Zee' (D. Spoon '04). There were many others that bloomed well this fall but due to the water shortage in CA, and since our only source of water is a well that must also service the house, we could not water the rebloomers for three months so the bloom was not as heavy as usual. The ones that did bloom were gorgeous. Rain has started but no freezing nights yet. Maybe we will see more rebloom.

Jim Geditz - Selah, WA

'Sky King Returns' is a bloomin' fool. First part of August it sent up a stalk and then another and another, it was still blooming in late September. 'Jennifer Rebecca' is loyal. I had to reset it this year and put only three rhizomes back in the ground. Two of them rebloomed. 'Exotic Notions' bloomed all of August and September. All three are great rebloomers.

2014 RIS Board Meeting Minutes – April 6, 2014 at 5:00 pm

Welcome/Call to Order/Confirmation of Quorum: Riley Probst welcomed all and called the meeting to order. A quorum was present.

Introductions: Introductions were made of those present.

Appointment of Secretary Pro Tem: Dave Miller was appointed as the Secretary Pro Tem.

Nominating Committee: Report was given by Jim Landers. The nominees are: President -Riley Probst, VP -Jim Landers, Secretary -Nick Stewart, and Treasurer -Elladan McLeester. The report was approved by those present.

Approval of minutes: The minutes published in the Fall 2013 Issue of The Reblooming Iris Recorder were approved by those present.

Approval of Financial Report: Riley reviewed the Treasurer's report which he received from Dana Brown. After a review by Riley, it was approved by those present.

President's Report: Dana Brown -Not present, no report.

Vice-President's Report: Kate Brewitt -Not present, no report.

Secretary's Report: Report published in the newsletter.

Area Directors' Reports:

Eastern: Susan Grigg has resigned, Mike Lockatell is replacing Susan.

Northwestern: Robin Shadlow -Not present, no report.

Midwestern: Mary Lou Swann-Young -Not present, no report.

Southwestern: Riley Probst: Riley has been a Director for six years; The new Director will be Bill Molnar.

Southern: Jim Landers: Jim will be leaving to take the VP position. Gailmae Suite will replace him.

Checklist Chair Report: Robin Shadlow -Not present, no report.

Digital Program Chair: Alex Stanton -Not present, no report.

Editor's Report: Carole Buchheim -Not present, Report given by Shirley Probst. The Editor has agreed to stay on for three more years. Magazine is going fine. Costs are being reduced due to new equipment in use at the printer's. Please send all photos with a larger format. They need to be attached to the email. Don't use too much jpeg compression. The Editor asked that all Directors keep up the good work.

RIS Facebook Page: Riley Probst: Facebook started about four years ago. One year ago we had 225 members, and last week we were up to 563.

Membership: Rose Kinnard: Rose reported RIS membership currently is 374. RIS lost four Life Members over the past year. Rose reviewed how she reminds members of dues that are due. (She sends a postcard.) Rose is tracking drops.

Publicity: Shirley Probst: Shirley reported what she has done recently. San Francisco Garden Show, radio program, selling CDs, giving personal talks to groups, pushing the RIS ad and giving RIS programs across the country.

RIS/Board of Directors email site: This program needs to be updated or changed. Carole Buchheim is knowledgeable about this item.

Symposium: Shirley Probst: Shirley reported the response has been slow. Responses from board members have been disappointing. If we do not want the symposium, we should discontinue it.

Website: Kate Brewitt: Not present, no report.

Website Designer: Nancy Price: Not present, no report.

OLD BUSINESS:

1. RIS Library: Rose Kinnard: Rose will send Riley a list of people who have RIS property.

2. Kathleen Sonntag: She is reprinting an article by Mike Lockatell and asked for a photo. Carole Buchheim will take care of this.

NEW BUSINESS:

1. RIS Awards Program: Distinguished Service Medal (DSM) -Riley has reviewed all previous winners. It is not a Hybridizer Award and has not been given since 2009. The International Award—new criteria for this award needs to be established.

2. Awards Chair: The Immediate Past President can be the Awards Chair. Riley will write up a recommendation and staff with the Board.

3. Returning $500. Back to DIS: It was recommended the $500 given to RIS last year be returned to the Dallas Iris Society (DIS). It was decided to wait until after the conference and see how they do. After discussion Rose made a motion to pay DIS $90.00 for A/V and electronics fees. Shirley second; motion carried.

4. Jim Landers Area Directors: Jim Landers mentioned Area Directors were left off his report. Please add Mike Lockatell and Gailmae Suite. Jim made a motion to cover this, Rose second, motion carried.

5. Fund Raising Ideas: Under the previous policy only the Treasurer could collect funds. Riley would like to change the RIS procedures so that any Officer, Director, Committee Chair or Member can collect funds and forward them to the Treasurer with an explanation if necessary. Motion -Rose Kinnard; second -Shirley Probst; motion carried.

6. Awards Process: John Jones mentioned that if the Immediate Past President is Chair of the Awards Committee, we should solicit suggestions/input from Board members or others. The Chair would compile and send to the RIS Board all Award recommendations. Riley will draft something and get it out to all.

7. CDs for RIS: Carole has CDs that are already made up. Rose sold all she has and Carol is currently making more. The CDs contain a picture program of rebloomers. A checklist is also available. Order forms are available.

8. Fund Raising ideas: RIS needs to come up with more fund raising ideas. We need more income to sustain the organization. Riley requested that everyone think about this between now and next year and come up with some ideas. Shirley Probst will head up a fund raising committee.

Adjournment: Meeting adjourned at 6:25 pm.

2014 RIS General Meeting Minutes – April 8, 2014 at 4:30 pm

Welcome/Call to Order: Riley Probst welcomed all and called the meeting to order at 4:41 pm.

Report of the Board Meeting: A short report was given on the Board Meeting held this past Sunday.

Nominating Committee: Report was given by Jim Landers. The nominees are: President -Riley Probst, VP -Jim Landers, Secretary -Nick Stewart, and Treasurer, Elladan McLeester. Deb Miller made a motion to accept the slate of officers by acclamation. Tracy second, motion carried.

Secretary and Treasurers Reports: Riley advised the group that these were in the Fall RIS Recorder for review.

Adjournment: Meeting adjourned at 4:48 pm.

Program: Riley Probst presented the program, Rebloom for All Areas, focusing on cool weather rebloomers which rebloom in zones 4 to 7 as well as warm weather rebloomers in zones 8 and 9.

Southwestern Report By Director Bill Molnar

A trip to your local nursery will confirm that reblooming iris are the way of the future. About five years ago, less than this year for May, July, September and October. It's out front and quite the conversation piece on her street.) Another favorite is 'Gene Machine' TB (T. Burseen 1993) that blooms from Thanksgiving through winter. The winter bloom is especially nice because each rhizome often sends up two or three individual flower half of the iris sold at the San Diego nurseries were reblooming iris. The boxes with the reblooming iris were the first to empty while the public passed up the once a year bloomers. Since the public made their desires known through their actions, I have now observed over the last three years, that the independent nurseries stock only 100% reblooming iris. I applaud the Reblooming Iris Society for its efforts to introduce the public to reblooming iris. I do believe that we are achieving our goal.

My San Diego garden has a rather unique climate. My winter nights are in the low 50s, days in the 60s. My summer nights are in the 60s and days in the 80s. It's a wonderful climate to live in, but unfortunately, some of my iris get confused. Many of the once a year bloomers grow beautiful leaves, but don't know to bloom in spring because they are still waiting for the chill of winter to arrive. That is why I grow many rebloomers. Since many of them don't need the intense winter cold, I can be surprised with blooms any time of the year.

My most dependable rebloomers are the following five. I can count on easy rebloom year after year. 'July Yellow' TB (K. Chadwick/E. Warner 2001), blooms November through March, then starts blooming again late May until September. It does not receive pollen well, but serves as a great pollinator. (As a side note, my cousin near Fort Collins, Colorado had it in bloom stems at once with 12-13 flowers on each stem. One rhizome can create a clump of 27-39 flowers. During other blooming seasons, it only produces one stem of 9-14 flowers. 'Recurring Dream' TB (B. Hager 2000) is a regular spring and fall bloomer for me. I like its consistent rebloom and great flower shape. 'Second Helping' TB (M.

Sutton 2010) appeared to outdo itself this year. It has always been floriferous but this year it bloomed late winter, rested and then gave me several more rounds of bloom in late spring. My other favorite is 'Picasso Moon' TB (Schreiner 2000) which consistently produces all triple sockets at all three blooming points along the stem. Thus, nine flowers per stem is a near certainty spring and summer.

Following is my garden list of iris that have rebloomed from July 1 through October 31. Although some are not registered as rebloomers, their ability to bloom out of season suggests that they might be a good variety to cross with a consistent rebloomer.

Claire Schneider of Ramona, CA (inland San Diego County) writes, "I often hear that the standard dwarf bearded (SDB) iris do not grow well in Southern California because our weather is not cold enough. I must live in a microclimate-warped because the SDBs do very well in my gardens right next to the citrus and avocado trees. Not only do they grow well here without frosty winter temperatures, but 'Replicator' (R. Tasco 2006) and 'Baby Blessed' (L. Zurbrigg 1979) have been blooming off and on every two weeks from July through October. Those two SDBs are serious about their rebloom cycles!"

Riley Probst, Fleur De Lis Garden - Modesto, CA

It seems that in our garden different rebloom stars surface every year depending on various situations. Some of those situations include multiple clumps versus one clump, irises being divided versus not being divided, or being replanted at rebloom time. This year, due to drought conditions, we watered very little. We are on a single well for our home and garden. We read in the newspaper about wells going dry only a few miles from us and so we made a conscious decision not to water our rebloomers like we had in other years.

Platinum TB (M. Byers 1994)

We had 0.00 inches of rainfall from May until late September which resulted in less rebloom than in previous years. However, we did have rebloom. In the hottest part of the summer we had very little rebloom; four varieties in July, two varieties in August and one variety in September.

This year, for whatever reason, we had very good repeat bloom in May and June. I know rebloom in these months sounds unusual to people in many parts of the country, but keep in mind that most of our median spring bloom is in March and most of our tall bearded spring bloom is in April.

This year we had 38 varieties repeat bloom in May and 18 varieties rebloom in June. That was nice and we saw some irises rebloom that don't normally do so. My 'Leave The Light On' IB (R. Probst 2013) which had never rebloomed for us before rebloomed for 68 consecutive days from April 27 through July 3rd. It started normal spring bloom on March 16th.

Also, Shirley's 'Opposites' TB (2012) and my 'Power Lines' TB (2013) each rebloomed for over two weeks in June. Neither of them had rebloomed for us before.

A few other TB's that rebloomed in June that are not usually considered rebloomers were: 'Magical Realism' (B. Williamson 2008), 'Oceanside Sparkle' (R. Ernst 2011), and 'Subtle Beauty' (R. Tasco 2010). 'Ivory Ghost' (G. Richardson 2008) rebloomed in June/July. Many of these were reblooming with 90+ degree heat with some days going into the 100's.

Then with cooler temperatures and a little bit of rain some traditional rebloomers started putting on a show in October and November. The four that did the best were 'Platinum' TB (M. Byers 1994), 'Duo Dandy' TB (B. Hager 1999), 'Zee' TB (D. Spoon 2004) and 'Corn Dance' TB (D. Spoon 2008). 'Platinum' TB (M. Byers 1994) was our longest rebloomer this year with 73 days through November 30th. Second was 'Leave The Light On' IB (R. Probst 2013) with 68 days. Third was 'Pearls of Summer' TB (G. Sutton 2012) with 62 days. Fourth was 'Corn Dance' TB (D. Spoon 2008) with 60 days. Not bad for very little water.

I am always an optimist when it comes to rebloom. We are getting quite a bit of rain at November's end. Hopefully, it will continue on and off throughout the winter. The 10-day forecast in early December has our lowest temperature at 45 degrees. Thus, I hope to have much more winter rebloom to report in the spring.

Northwestern Report By Director Robin Shadlow

The 2014 season in the Northwest began early in the spring and progressed with warmer than usual temperatures this summer. Rains arrived late which did serve to delay rebloom. But as of Halloween, no frosts have ended hopes and more stalks are appearing each day.

Denise Stewart in Lebanon, OR zone 8a, had a number to report:

September 20, 2014

Alla Prossima (A. Bianco 2008) ..... TB
Sottobosco (A. Bianco 2008) ..... TB
Think Of Me (D. Stewart 2013) ..... MTB

Sangreal (J. Sass 1935) ..... IB

Think Of Me (D. Stewart 2013) ..... MTB

Denise told me that 'Think of Me' MTB (D. Stewart 2013) had bloom for many, many weeks. We are glad to see a new MTB reblooming.

Speaking of reblooming MTBs, Kevin Vaughn reported August MTB rebloom in Salem, OR 8b. Two diploid MTBs rebloomed: 'Pretty Pony' (J. Witt 2012), and 'Little White Tiger' (J. Witt 2013).

Velvet Echo SDB, (A. & D. Willott 2005)

There were also several tetraploid MTB seedlings reblooming in the Vaughn seedling beds. Two of which bloomed all summer, no doubt due to the aphylla in their pedigrees.

David Silverberg reported that 'Edge Of The World' TB (M. Sutton 2011) had rebloomed in their Mollala, OR garden zone 8b. Lynda and Roger Miller of Canby, OR zone 8b, brought a lovely stalk of 'Cotillion Gown' TB (K. Keppel 2013) to the Region 13 Fall Meeting the first weekend in October. 'Velvet Echo' SDB (A. & D. Willott 2005) had also started to rebloom that weekend. More stalks have continued on 'Velvet Echo' and it should rebloom through frost. This is its first rebloom seen in my Salem, OR zone 8 garden.

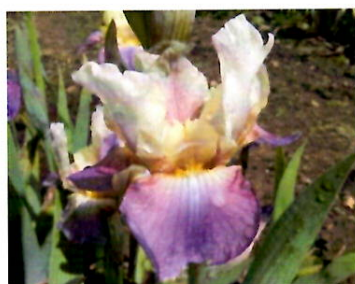

It is nice to see that we have different triggers for rebloom so that different varieties may

Denise told me that 'Think of Me' MTB (D. Stewart 2013) had bloom for many, many weeks. We are glad to see a new MTB reblooming.

Speaking of reblooming MTBs, Kevin Vaughn reported August MTB rebloom in Salem, OR 8b. Two diploid MTBs rebloomed: 'Pretty Pony' (J. Witt 2012), and 'Little White Tiger' (J. Witt 2013).

There were also several tetraploid MTB seedlings reblooming in the Vaughn seedling beds. Two of which bloomed all summer, no doubt due to the aphylla in their pedigrees.

David Silverberg reported that 'Edge Of The World' TB (M. Sutton 2011) had rebloomed in their Mollala, OR garden zone 8b. frost. This is its first rebloom seen in my Salem, OR zone 8 garden.

It is nice to see that we have different triggers for rebloom so that different varieties may surprise us throughout the year. There are some SDBs which have a repeat bloom. This year 'Tremors' (T. Johnson 2006) bloomed in April, and then really put on a show in late June. Another SDB which showed this form of repeat bloom in my Nebrasksa zone 5 garden was 'Refined' (J. Weiler 1987).

We are seeing progress on ever-bloomers. 'Perpetual Indulgence' SDB (J.T. Aitken 2005) was seen at several different times throughout the hot summer, even in areas where no supplemental watering was given. Chuck Chapman's 'Eternal Summer' SPEC-X (2012) bloomed in the spring and then into the summer until every rhizome had bloomed. It was a first-year plant, and as it grows into a clump, more rebloom is promised.

The rebloom season promises more to come this fall. We expect to report some new rebloomers for our area in the next issue. Hopefully, each of you has a stalk or two to enjoy as we head into the holidays.

Midwestern Report By Dir. Mary Lou S.-Young

The typically short growing season in the upper Midwest got a whole lot shorter this year. Winter lingered and spring peak was two weeks late. The month of July was the coldest on record. Summer lasted about three weeks in August. But then, oddly enough, we didn't get the killing frost the first week of October that ends rebloom. A hard freeze came on Oct. 31st in the home garden.

The IBs and SDBs didn't seem to mind the cool weather here in my hometown of McCordsville, IN. Particularly exuberant were 'Baby Blessed' SDB (L. Zurbrigg 1979), 'Champagne Encore' IB (J.T. Aitkin 1997), 'Constant Companion' IB (C. Marsh 1995) and 'Midsummer Night's Dream' IB (L. Baumunk 1999), which all bloomed from July on. Earliest to rebloom in the tall bearded class in my garden were 'Echo Location' TB (B. Wilkerson 2007), 'Immortality' TB (L. Zurbrigg 1982), 'Luminosity' TB (M. Byers 1991) and 'Over And Over' TB (S. Innerst 2001).

My thanks to all of you who sent in rebloom reports. And special thanks to Bob Hollingworth for reporting the Siberians and to Arlyn & Rita Madsen from northern Illinois for their first report from an extensive collection of rebloomers.

Hopefully rebloom in your garden. Also, if you, like myself, only have a small garden, this book is very important to have. When I first joined the Johnson Country Iris & Daylily Society in 2005 it was the first time I had heard about reblooming irises even though I had been growing irises for almost 20 years and had been gardening since I was a small child.

I was given 'All American' TB (M. Byers 1992), 'Billionaire' TB (M. Byers 1987), 'Blatant' TB (M. Byers 1990), 'Clarence' TB (L. Zurbrigg 1991), and 'Autumn Tryst' TB (J. Weiler 1993). Over the years all of these have rebloomed for me with 'Autumn Tryst' being the most faithful rebloomer. After having the first iris rebloom, I was hooked and have only been adding them to my iris garden. I did make the mistake for a few years of thinking that all reblooming irises would rebloom for me. Now, before purchasing an iris, I look in the RIS "Checklist" as well as ask other gardeners how that iris has bloomed in their garden.

Reporting your reblooming irises is a big help to all iris growers. Not only can the "Checklist" be kept updated, but it really helps iris growers know what will rebloom in their areas.

Eastern Report By Director Mike Lockatell

The recent AIS Region 4 Fall Meeting in Raleigh, NC afforded me the rare opportunity to visit with Bonita Zurbrigg. Her late husband, Dr. Lloyd Zurbrigg was my breeding mentor and friend. Without his brilliance and persistence spread over fifty years, cool season and warm season bearded iris rebloom development would still be in the dark ages.

As my colleague and friend, Tom Silvers from Rohrsersville, MD helps me uncover more information concerning Lloyd's breeding work. There are still many questions left to be answered nearly ten years after his passing. Dinner with Nita was like an interview. Any recollection of her late husband's hybridizing career would be helpful in exploring rebloom's past. Time, unfortunately, always does tricks with one's memory. Our conversation did not result in any startling revelations, just more support and encouragement.

Before saying goodbye, "Nita" was finally able to give me two wire crates with vintage glass milk bottles in them. "Doc" had used them to transport bloomstalks to spring and fall flower shows. How special is that? She also gave me a tote bag filled with Zurbrigg momentos including article drafts and news clippings. One of the latter really caught my eye.

A feature story appearing in the Roanoke (VA) Times on March 5, 1984 is a somber reminder of rebloom's difficulties in the iris world. The Dwayne Yancey story has many priceless observations and comments.

"Iris-growers haven't seen anything like it – either Lloyd Zurbrigg's "iris of the future" that blooms five months instead of two weeks or the controversy it's stirred up in horticulture officialdom. The outgoing AIS president has endorsed the reblooming iris, although AIS conservatives have so far blocked attempts to recognize his life's work by not setting up a separate category at the all-important flower shows. Some people in the iris society think oh, once a year that's enough," Zurbrigg says.

Dismissing rebloomers as "inferior and unreliable novelties," commercial growers refused to add fall flowering varieties to their catalogs. "Zurbrigg, a soft spoken native of Canada who teaches voice and piano at Radford University, is confident that his reblooming faction will prevail." Note: Fifteen years after the Roanoke Times story, another feature article in a major home and garden magazine surfaced to finally turn the tide. The general gardening public wanted rebloom, and commerce had to respond.

"And of only three tall bearded iris featured in Flower Garden magazine's annual round-up of important new plants, two were Zurbrigg's. "Surely he is one of the world's leading authorities, says former AIS chief Hal Stahly. Yet many AIS rank and file members have looked askance at the reblooming irises, as if they were stepchildren. This decade will prove them very wrong in their judgment and prejudice." Prospects for cool season rebloom in the East really haven't changed much in the last thirty years. Can summer and fall flowering bearded irises still become popular with iris society members and the general gardening public? Let's remain hopeful.

One of the best surprises from this fall was receiving a rebloom report from Darien, CT. Thanks to gardening encouragement from her late mother from Garden City (Long Island) NY, Rosemary Meade Trompeter has been growing reblooming irises for many years with great results. The secret to Rosemary's success is creating hospitable micro-climates in her suburban yard near Long Island Sound.

Eastern exposures are particularly useful along masonry walls to radiate heat for bloomstalk development each fall. There are many recognizable names on her list.

Rosemary has done her best to get some distribution and publicity for rebloom through fundraisers in her local community. A long time RIS member, we are indebted to her preaching the rebloom gospel. Well done.

J. Griffin Crump, Cool Weather Rebloom Hybridizer By Mike Lockatell

In the last 17 years, AIS Region 4 hybridizer, J. Griffin Crump, has introduced more than 30 bearded irises. His goals include improving cool season rebloomers. We applaud his efforts thus far and look forward to future introductions to popularize this recessive iris trait in the East.

blooms have white standards. Falls have a yellow ground with broad white edges and veins. The cute SDB has white beards with yellow in the throat.

The Northern Virginia hybridizer is seriously considering two tall bearded rebloom seedlings for introduction. TB Re Sdlg. No. #07Y1 or Eternal Bliss (M. Byers, 1988) X Alleluia (J.G. Crump, 2001) is a blue-violet self with yellow beards tipped blue. Vigor was never an Griffin was inspired by Earl Roberts to try iris breeding in Indianapolis, IN. A job promotion meant his first seedlings travelled with him to his new home in Virginia. He started with a 12 X 12 patch due to poor soil and little sunlight. After cutting down twenty-two trees, Crump's suburban yard is now covered in raised plantings for seedlings and named varieties. His first registered rebloom introduction was 'Haunting' TB (J.G. Crump, 2006). The name reflected the seedling's knack for reblooming each Halloween.

"Griff" started receiving some interesting late September seedling results in his Northern Virginia garden. His Alexandria, VA residence is three blocks from George Washington Parkway along the Potomac River and three minutes from historic Mount Vernon.

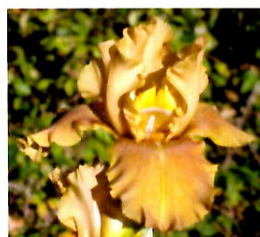

Recent reporting from Griffin has indicated fall flowering on some interesting median hopefuls. IB Re Sdlg. No. #093G1 opened on 10/13 with three bloomstalks. Blooms feature white standards and chartreuse falls edged white. Yellow beards complete the package. "Utterly faithful and a good increaser," remarked Crump. SDB Re Sdlg. No. #08D6 has bloomed spring and fall since its debut. Early October flowers exhibit very pale blue standards with mustard green infusion in the mid-ribs. "Falls are heavily veined mustard green," Griff remarked. Another SDB Re Sdlg. No. #07P9 flowers spring and fall. Early October issue, but height and branching have improved for possible release. TB Re Sdlg. Nos. #072N3 & #072N6 have produced late October bloomstalks. Their pedigree is a rich one. (Wearing Rubies X ((984M7 or (Champagne Elegance x Lady Friend) x Romantic Evening.)) Exciting heavily ruffled flowers sport red-violet standards and dark violet red falls with orange beards.

'Haunting' TB (J.G. Crump, 2006) and 'Stealth Fighter' TB (J.G. Crump, 2008) are proving to be capable rebloom breeding parents. "TB Re Sdlg. No. #07201 (Stealth Fighter X Ranks of Blue (Crump, 2004) is near black and fall bloom is later than Stealth Fighter", Crump remarked. Two other promising TB Re Seedlings are Nos. #092U15 (Haunting X Fiery Temper) and #092N1 or (Stealth Fighter X Holy Cow (Burseen, 1998)). Well done Griff. Prospects appear bright for rebloom in Alexandria, VA.

2014 Reblooming Iris Society Symposium Results

By Shirley Trio-Probst, Symposium Chairperson

Thanks to all of you who sent in your 2014 RIS Symposium Ballots by our October 1st deadline. We really appreciate your efforts. Being a voting member is really important to the growth and prosperity of our society. It shows that you have a vested interest in the goals of the Relooming Iris Society to promote the significance of iris remontancy. It also gives our RE hybridizers much needed encouragement for their efforts.

Just a note on voting the ballot. . .if the pride and joy of your rebloom garden is NOT listed on the ballot, WRITE IT IN. However, a cultivar must be in commerce for two years to be eligible. That gives time for observation on rebloom reliability. We very much appreciate your comments and suggestions as well.

Reblooming Glaciatas, Luminatas, Plicatas and Fanciatas

Recently, our Chesapeake & Potomac Iris Society youth member, Colin Campbell, gave a very informative talk that was especially useful for our new members on how to grow, hybridize and market irises. Colin had such a professional PowerPoint presentation that everyone was impressed. When he talked about the different kinds of patterns, such as glaciatas, luminatas, plicatas and fanciatis, one of our members asked how you could tell them apart. Colin explained the differences very well, but when he asked me what our 'Momma Rosemary' TB (D. Spoon 2012) pattern was, I said that I thought it was a luminata because it had white veining and light beards, but I was wrong, it really was a fanciata. Don wasn't there to correct me and when I asked him later how you can tell the difference between a luminata and a fanciata he said to check the beard area and if there is no anthocyanin (water soluble violet blue pigment) around or in the beards then it is a luminata, if there is, then it is a fanciata. Also, Don said that a fanciata has an anthocyanin wash over the falls that can be very light to very dark that may obscure the lighter veins that are a characteristic of the luminata pattern.

Also, the parentage of the irises themselves helps to solve the question. For example, take Douglas Kanarowski's reblooming iris 'I I Stutter' TB (2012) for instance; the parentage is ((Clarence x Queen In Calico) x Flights Of Fancy) X Daughter Of Stars. All of the parents are luminatas with the exception of 'Queen In Calico' TB (J. Gibson 1980) which is a fancy plicata. If you look at the area around the beards of 'I I Stutter',

I I Stutter TB (D. Kanarowski 2012) Luminata

there is no anthocyanin there or in the beards. You can see the lighter edges and veining of the luminata pattern clearly on the falls. This October, 'I I Stutter' put up two 36" stalks, each with 7 buds, giving us a modern-formed reblooming version of its grandparent, 'Flights of Fancy' TB (K. Keppel 1993).

If you notice, 'Queen in Calico' has the stitched plicata markings on the borders of the falls, but the grounds of the falls are also overmarked by a complex pattern of anthocyanin lines and dots which makes it a fancy plicata.

'Clarence' TB (L. Zurbrigg 1991), parentage unknown, displays the luminata pattern. The beards and the area around the beards have no anthocyanin, and there are light veins, best seen with backlighting, in the falls and faint lighter edges that are characteristic of the luminata pattern. We have used 'Clarence' as a parent for our 'Daughter of Stars' TB (D. Spoon 2001) which displays a distinct luminata pattern.

Both 'Clarence' and 'Daughter of Stars' can produce glaciatas, so we propose that both 'Clarence' and 'Daughter of Stars' have two luminata doses and two glaciatas doses (lu lu gl gl) at the plicata locus.

Daughter Of Stars TB (D. Spoon 2001) Luminata

‘Momma Rosemary’ is the one I was confused about the pattern. It is out of Daughter of Stars X Mariposa Autumn, that is a luminata X a plicata giving a luminata-plicata (the fanciata pattern) that can have two doses of luminata and two doses of plicata (lu lu pl pl) at the plicata locus. Notice that in ‘Momma Rosemary’, although there are light beards and some white veining, there is still anthocyanin around the beards and light edges only on the hafts of the falls. The white vein pattern down the falls are speckled rather than fully lined. In bright backlighting the lighter veins are more apparent. The beards, although they appear white, are very light-violet.

‘Mariposa Autumn’ TB (R. Tasco 1999) is a great rebloomer for us in zone 6b and also a great parent for rebloom. The stitched anthocyanin lines and dots around the borders of the falls with its white grounds means it has the classic plicata pattern. Also, note there is anthocyanin pigmentation in and around the beards.

Mariposa Autumn TB (R. Tasco 1999) Plicata

Momma’s Angel TB (D. Spoon 2009) Glaciata

‘Momma’s Angel’ TB (D. Spoon 2009) (Mind Reader X Clarence), from the reverse of the cross that produced ‘Daughter of Stars’, displays the glaciata pattern. These glaciatas were once called ices because of their translucent qualities. In the glaciata pattern, there is no anthocyanin anywhere in the flower including the beards, stamens, and style arms, not even at the very base of the falls as is always seen in other non-glaciata white cultivars. A glaciata can also be yellow or pink, or even yellow orange. Intense orange or even red glaciatas may be possible. ‘Momma’s Angel’ has never rebloomed for us, but it may rebloom for others in warmer climate zones. Also, as a rebloom carrier, it may produce rebloomers if crossed on a parent that does rebloom. We are crossing our non reblooming glaciatas in hopes of producing the first, translucent pure white glaciata that is a reliable cold climate rebloomer.
