A Quick Guide To Your Convention

This book, is your guide to convention programs and garden tours. It contains the daily schedule of events with times and places of meetings.

NAME TAGS: Please wear your convention name tag at all times in the hotel, on the buses, and in the gardens. It serves as your ticket to all paid events and each day's lunch. Your meal tickets are in your registration packet with your name badge.

BALLOTS: Voting Ballots for the President's Cup, The Franklin Cook Memorial Cup, The Ben Hagar Cup, The Lloyd Zurbrigg - Clarence Mahan Award and Fifteen Favorite Iris are on the perforated pages at the back of this book (pages 85 and 87). Please complete them Friday afternoon on your ride back to the hotel. Give them to your bus captain or deposit them before 4:00 pm at the Convention Registration Desk. Winners will be announced at the Saturday evening Awards Banquet.

GARDEN TOURS BUS ASSIGNMENT: Bus assignments are made at time of check-in at the Convention Registration Desk. If you have not received your assignment, please return to the Convention Registration as soon as possible to complete this step. You will be on the same bus for both days of the tour.

IRIS REGIONS: In-Region irises are designated with a RED DOT on the garden marker. In-Region hybridizers and their cultivars are identified in this book in bold.

Welcome to Des Moines Iowa!

The members and affiliates of American Iris Society Region 21 welcome you to the 2017 National Convention: Rhythm of the Prairie! This convention is the first to take place in Region 21 since 1990 (Omaha) and in Iowa since 1950 (Sioux City), the year that Iowa's most famous iris 'Blue Rhythm' (Agnes Whiting, 1945) won the Dykes Medal and the President's Cup. This convention is dedicated to the legacy of Ms. Whiting, arguably Iowa's most successful iris hybridizer. Her iris introductions, over 75 registered and introduced, were popular garden plants in their day and many continue to thrive in modern gardens thanks to ardent collectors. 'Blue Rhythm' is nearly weedy in its persistence, high praise for a plant that has stood the test of time with resilience and grace.

This convention is also an experiment in planning as we've sought to shorten this annual gathering by a day and condense the schedule for the benefit of most attendees. As the Society strategizes its way into the future, the nature of its programs and meetings should change to address contemporary audiences. We'd love your feedback on how we did and promise to disseminate that information to future convention planning committees.

We hope you enjoy the City of Des Moines. Des Moines has earned a lot of media attention in recent years as the Best City in the US for Young Professionals (Forbes, 2014) and the #2 Best Place for Doing Business (Forbes, 2014). This walkable city is full of vibrant cultural opportunities and restaurants, which we hope you can take advantage of on your visit.

Most of all, thanks for attending the 2017 AIS National Convention!

2017 Symposium Program - Saturday, May 27

9:00 a.m. Welcome by Gary White, AIS President

9:10 a.m. The Juno Iris Species by Tony Hall,
Royal Botanic Garden, Kew

About: Tony Hall came to horticulture relatively late in life after an early career in music was cut short. While still in his 3rd year as a student at Royal Botanic Garden Kew (RBG Kew), he was appointed Manager of the Alpine and Bulb Unit where he, along with Brian Halliwell, built up the collections of natural source material that made the Unit renowned. He also transformed the Woodland Garden at the base of Cumberland Mound into a plantsman's paradise of shade-loving species. He oversaw the landscaping, development and displays of Kew's world-famous pyramidal Alpine House, sadly demolished in 2004. Tony has contributed to Curtis's Botanical Magazine, The Alpine Garden Society (AGS) Bulletin and the British Iris Society (BIS) Yearbook and Species Group Newsletter, among others, and has lectured around the world. He was awarded Kew's Gold Medal in 1979, the Foster Memorial Plaque by the BIS in 1998 and the Lyttel Trophy by the AGS in 2000. Tony is an Honorary Associate of the Royal Horticultural Society and was made an Honorary Research Associate at RBG Kew on his retirement just over 12 years ago (the only member of Kew's horticultural staff ever to receive an Associateship). He has described several new iris species in the last few years and is working towards a complete monograph of the Juno irises in conjunction with Arnis Seisums of Latvia.

10:15 a.m. Break

10:30 a.m. Artistic Iris Arrangements by Dawn Boyer

About: AIS Judge Dawn Boyer will present the finer points of artistic arrangements and designs on-screen and through live demonstration with a follow-along for symposium participants. Boyer will discuss creating a great design as well as how to judge it effectively, because as she says in her own words "I am a staunch promoter of getting iris people involved in making and entering designs." Boyer is the immediate past RVP of Region 17 and has owned her own florist business. She grows bearded and arilbred irises and roses in her Amarillo, TX garden.

This session qualifies for AIS Judges Training credit, but is open to all!*

11:15 a.m. Agnes Whiting and the Journey to Blue Rhythm
by Cathy Egerer, Historic Iris Preservation Society

About: Cathy Egerer is the President of the Historic Iris Preservation Society and a devout collector of historic irises, particularly those of Iowa hybridizer Agnes Whiting. Even today, Whiting's legendary irises are treasured in gardens around the world. In this presentation, Cathy will tell the stories behind Whiting's introductions and her breeding career, which culminated in the Dykes Medal-winning 'Blue Rhythm' in 1950.

COLLINS GARDEN

3145 Cumming Road Cumming, IA 50061

The Collins Garden is a multi-acre iris field in rural Iowa, southwest of Des Moines in Madison County. It is the southern-most garden of the tour and has a beautiful open view of the countryside. In addition to over 500 guest bearded irises, you will see multitudes of other irises, including thousands of seedlings – the products of Brad's hybridizing hobby. Brad's hobby is his relaxation from a very busy life.

GREATER DES MOINES BOTANICAL GARDEN

909 Robert D. Ray Drive Des Moines, IA 50309

The Greater Des Moines Botanical Garden, a vibrant, 14-acre public garden in the heart of downtown Des Moines, is honored to host a small display of guest irises along the John Pat Dorrian Bike Trail, which runs through the property. This garden space was originally created by volunteers in the early 2000s as a perennial display garden.

Guided by a mission of exploring, explaining and celebrating the world of plants, the Botanical Garden cultivates a signature guest experience through progressive garden design and innovative programming.

Outdoor gardens include a rose garden, entrance garden, nearly 0.5-acre water garden, maple allée, belvedere overlooking the Des Moines River, celebration lawn and walled perennial border, conifer and gravel garden, a hillside garden, and an annual and bulb parterre. These gardens reflect the institution's commitment to developing gardens as forms of public art. The gardens will feature rich annual color designs conceived around artistic concepts inspired from music, history, art and pop culture, utilizing plants as the ingredients for exhibitions.

Additional non-guest irises can be seen on the main grounds.

JURIK GARDEN

5658 195th Street

Ames, IA 50010

Kris and Tom Jurik live on 8+ acres overlooking the South Skunk River just north of Ames, Iowa. Here you will see over 600 guest irises, both bearded and beardless, and 600+ of their own. In addition to irises, you will see several hundred peonies in bloom during the convention tour.

They also have an extensive collection of hostas and hellebores, along with upland forest, restored prairie, floodplain forest, and riverside beach habitats, over a 60-ft elevational gradient. Later in the season numerous lilies, daylilies, and various composites and companions will become the focus of the main garden.

MESSER GARDEN

Garden Address: 1007 Timberlane Dr., Huxley, IA
Mailing Address: P.O. Box 64, Huxley, IA 50124

The Messer Garden is in an urban setting in small town Iowa. Wayne and Pam live in Huxley, in Story County, just south of Ames. The five guest bearded iris beds begin along the driveway, drift along the south edge of the yard, wrap around the house and create a border for the cherry orchard (in progress). In addition to 242 bearded guests, you will find over 100 additional bearded irises and a sprinkling of Siberians.
